Dursley Wood (North) is a wonderfully mixed semi-ancient woodland set within the Cotswolds Hills AONB.

From the wide track at the base the wood a small path splits off to the right and takes you up and along the top ridge allowing for fantastic views across the valley to the north.

Huge beech and sycamore are common throughout but also mature hazel, ash, hawthorne, field maple, willow and holly can also be found. Wild garlic, dogs mercury, wood anemones and fern cover the woodland floor.

The woodland is ideally placed, just a short walk from the picturesque town of Dursley with all it has to offer. Gloucester sits to the north and Bristol to the south, both just a 30 minute drive.

Ward is Dursley and the County Council is Gloucestershire
